ABSTRACT

This collection of tables includes data for the 1979-80 California school concerning: (1) enrollment by sex, by racial ethnic group, and by county; (2) enrollment by grade level and by racial ethnic group; (3) high school graduates by racial/ethnic group and by county; (4) district level staff by racial/ethnic group and by county (1979); and (5) district level staff by sex and by ethnic group. Table six compares the racial/ethnic distribution in enrollment by county for 1977 and 1979. Table seven compares the racial/ethnic distribution of district level staff and school site staff for 1977 and 1979. (JCD)

INTRODUCTION

The California State Department of Education has collected racial/ethnic information on the public school population in California since 1967. Information is collected by the Department from each school district, which in turn reports information on staff and students for each school administered by the district. Because of changes made in both the racial/ethnic categories and the regulatory requirements (see the California Administrative Code, Title 5, Education, Section 97), some historical data are not available.

Table 1 presents the 1979-80 student enrollments in California public schools in each county and statewide by sex and by racial/ethnic classification. Forty percent of the four million students enrolled in the public schools were members of minority groups. Hispanic students comprised 23.4 percent of all students; blacks, 10 percent; Asians or Pacific Islanders, 4.3 percent; Filipinos, 1.4 percent; and American Indians or Alaskan Natives, 0.9 percent.

Table 2 shows the 1979-80 California public school enrollments by grade level and racial/ethnic group. The enrollments of Hispanic students were much higher in kindergarten and grade one than in grades eleven and twelve. Enrollments of minority students other than Hispanic students were substantially the same across all grade levels.

Table 3 presents the number and percent of 1979 high school graduates who had been enrolled in regular high school programs and adult school programs by racial/ethnic group in each county and statewide. Nonminority (white) graduates represented nearly 70 percent of the regular high school graduates in 1979 and 53 percent of the graduates of adult schools.

Table 4 presents the statewide district-level staff by selected personnel categories, by sex, and by racial/ethnic group for 1979-80. The professional staff at the district level were predominantly nonminority (white) persons, ranging from 85 to 92 percent of the total. About 27 percent of noncertificated personnel were minority persons.

Table 5 shows the statewide distribution of school site staff by selected classifications, by sex, and by racial/ethnic group. Fourteen percent of the principals and 20 percent of the assistant principals in the state were minority persons. Eighty-three percent of classroom teachers were nonminority (white) persons; and 17 percent, minority persons. Paraprofessionals (teacher aides, library aides, and pupil personnel aides) were 35 percent minority persons, and classified staff, including office and clerical staff, were 28 percent minority persons.

Table 6 presents a comparison of the racial/ethnic distribution of public school students in each county and statewide for 1977 and 1979. The statewide totals show an increase in the percent of minority students from 36 percent to 40 percent.

Table 7 shows a comparison of the racial/ethnic distribution of district-level staff and school site staff statewide in 1977 and 1979. The apparent difference between the percent of black superintendents reported in 1977 and the percent reported in 1979 was due to an anomaly in reporting in 1977 rather than to an actual change in the number of black superintendents. The remainder of the table displays differences in percentages for various personnel categories for which no specific trend is discernible.
